

SOCIAL AND PERSONAL

POEMS YOU OUGHT TO KNOW

Whatever your occupation may be, and however crowded your hours with affairs, do not fail to secure at least a few minutes every day for refreshment of your inner life with a bit of poetry.—Professor Charles Eliot Norton.

No. 408.
AFTER.

By ROBERT BROWNING.

This poem describes the feelings of the injured man who has killed his enemy, once his friend, in duet. The portrait, autograph and biographical sketch of Browning have already appeared in this series.

TAKE the cloak from his face, and at first
Let the corpse do its worst!

How he lies in his rights of a man!
Death has done all death can:
And, absorbed in the new life he leads,
He reck not, he heeds
Nor his wrong nor my vengeance; both strike
On his senses alike,
And are lost in the solemn and strange
Surprise of the change.

Ha, what avails death to erase
His offense, my disgrace?
I would we were boys as of old
In the field, by the fold:
His outrage, God's patience, man's scorn
Were so easily borne!

I stand here now, he lies in his place:
Cover the face!

This series began in The Times-Dispatch Sunday, October 11, 1903. One is published each day.

An Old Love's Picture.
Time was, dear face, not long ago,
It seemed thy smile was all aglow
With love for me. Thine eyes did show
Twin wells of joy to drown my woe,
Or with a thousand love-lights so
Shining, my heart, that at a blow
I knelt thy captive, bending low—
Time was, dear face, not long ago!

Time was, dear face, in auld lang syne,
It seemed thy heavy, beautiful line
Was of the love god's own design.
A halo of lights divine
Hung on thy brow as o'er a shrine.
And, oh, how love-lorn and lonely
Thy glances were, in auld lang syne!
Time was, dear face, in auld lang syne!
Throughout all time I shall remember Thee!

Time was, time is, and time is still to be.

Miss Robson Honored.

Miss Eleanor Robson was the honored guest at a reception given at the club house, 1 West Main Street, from 4 to 5 Wednesday afternoon by Miss Ellen Glasgow.

The drawing-rooms and halls were aglow with the color and fragrance of masses of jonquils, against a wealth of greenery. Miss Glasgow, beautifully gowned as she always is, was assisted in doing the honors by her sisters, Mrs. McCormick and Miss Rebe Glasgow. Among those who had the pleasure of meeting Miss Robson were: Mrs. Frank Clark, of Norfolk; Dr. and Mrs. George Ben Johnson, Miss Corale Johnson, Mrs. Ruthford, Governor and Mrs. Montague, Mr. and Mrs. Joseph E. Willard, Mr. and Mrs. Thomas N. Caplan, Mr. and Mrs. Frank Christian, Miss Claudia Palmer, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Williams, Admiral and Mrs. Webster, Mr. and Mrs. Andrew Christian, Mrs. L. R. Dashiell, Mr. and Mrs. Strudwick, Miss Hughes, Mrs. Russell Robinson, Miss Coleman, Misses Coleman, Miss Cameron, Miss Ryland, Miss Carolyn Martin, Mr. and Mrs. Gordon McCabe, Mr. and Mrs. John Kerr Branch, Miss Effie Branch, Mr. John P. Branch, Bishop Van de Vyver, Mrs. Robert Hamilton, Miss de Vyver, Mr. and Mrs. E. L. Bomis, Mrs. Caskie Cabell, Mr. and Mrs. John Stewart Bryan, Miss Elizabeth Davenport, Mr. and Mrs. Francis Deane Williams, Mrs. James Allison, Mr. William Thomas Bolling, Mr. and Mrs. W. L. Royall, Mrs. Anderson, the Misses Williams, Mr. Archer Anderson, Jr., Mr. J. R. J. Anderson, Mr. John Rutherford, Mr. W. O. Skelton, Mr. Charles Bruce, Mr. William Robson, Mr. Joseph Johnston, Mr. William Noland, Mr. Walter Johnston, Mr. Alfred Williams, and Mr. Lillburn Myers.

At the Academy.

The second night of "Merely Mary Ann" at the Academy of Music was, if possible, better than the first.

Guests who met Miss Robson in the evening came to see her in the evening, and the result was a brilliant overflow for the Academy boxes and orchestra seats.

Mr. and Mrs. John W. Gordon, Miss Gordon, Miss Robson, Gordon, Miss Nellie Gordon, Mr. William Habbitt, Miss Virginia Tyson, of Baltimore; Mrs. Montague, Governor Montague, Mr. Fitzgerald, Mrs. Dabney S. Crosshain, Mr. C. S. Crosshain, Mrs. Allen Stokes, Mrs. Stokes, Miss Allen Stokes, Mr. Stenley Beville, Mr. Richard Meade, Miss Palmer, Mr. Richard Meade, Miss Palmer, Mr. Palmer, Miss Laura Rutherford, Miss Mary Bolne, Miss Daisy Chamberlayne, Mr. James Watson, Mr. L. Eubank, Miss Jordan, Mrs. Caskie Cabell, Mr. and Mrs. James Harper Anderson, Mrs. James D. Crump, Mr. Archer Anderson, Mr. and Mrs. George Elliott, Mrs. W. C. Mayo, Rear-Admiral and Mrs. Webster, Mr. Margaret McGuffee, Mr. Hunter McGuffee, Mrs. Otway Allen, Mr. Allen, Mrs. Raul Wellford, Mr. Wellford, Miss Courtney Crump, Miss Tompkins, Miss Glasgow, Miss Johnson, and others.

Marriage Announcement.

The marriage of Miss Sallie Morrison, of Rosemont, and Mr. Henry E. Roane, of Park Place, Norfolk, is announced to take place on February 7th, at 3:30 P. M., from the Rosemont Christian Church. The bride-elect is the charming daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Morrison, of Rosemont, and Mr. Roane is the son of Mr. R. W. Roane, of Berkeley.

Beth Ababab Auxiliary.

The Beth Ababab Auxiliary gave a large whist party in the parlors of the Jefferson Club on Tuesday afternoon. Miss Judy won the first prize, a lovely clock glass and silver powder box; Mrs. M. Greenlee, the second prize, a silver mirror; Miss Helen Binswanger the third, a handsome jeweled clock, while the booty was awarded Mrs. E. D. Ullman.

Mrs. Cohen, the president of the auxiliary, has met with great success in her series of whist games, and hopes to raise a goodly sum for the new temple.

St. Valentine's Tea.

The meeting of the Soldiers' Home and Social Committee was held at 10 East Grace Street, and the ladies decided to give a St. Valentine's tea at Lee Camp Hall on Monday, February 13th, from 4 to 6 P. M. St. Valentine will be present, and give to each child a free Valentine. He will also have valentines for sale. Refreshments will be served free.

There will be many attractions for the young people, among which we may mention a fishing pond. Home-made candy for sale. St. Valentine's heart to be pierced by the arrow of Love.

The child who makes the best shot will be given a pretty prize.

The tea is given to raise money to buy comforts and luxuries for the old soldiers. The well and the sick will both be looked after. The State gives only the necessities, and it is very hard to get even those with the small amount allowed.

PRICES FOR

LOWER

Quality considered, than any other
Needles, Oil, Repairs
FOR ALL MAKES AT
SINGER STORE,
10 West Broad Street,
Richmond, Va.

children, not only because the little ones will have an evening of fun and pleasure, but because the money raised will be for the benefit of the Confederate veterans.

Only five cents will be charged as admission. It was also decided to have the annual tea of the Richmond Chapter of the Daughters of the Confederacy on Wednesday next, from 5 till 7 P. M.

On account of the tea, the regular monthly meeting of the chapter will be held in February, but the election of officers will be held at the March meeting, the second Wednesday in March.

Kennon—Ferebee.

Miss Ruth Alexander Ferebee and Dr. Beverly Randolph Kennon were married at 1 o'clock yesterday afternoon at Oxford, N. C.

The ceremony was performed by Right Rev. A. M. Randolph, Bishop of the Protestant Episcopal Diocese of Southern Virginia, who is a cousin of the groom.

It was a white and yellow wedding. The bride wore a gown of white satin, and was attended by her sister, Miss Martha Ferebee, as maid of honor. The bridesmaids were Miss Gilda Chamberlain, of Norfolk, and Miss Nancy Chamberlain, of Norfolk, Va., sister of the groom.

Dr. John P. Davidson, of Richmond, was best man.

The nuptial ceremony was followed by a reception, after which Dr. and Mrs. Kennon left for a wedding trip to Havana, Cuba. They will be "at home" in the Tazewell Apartments, Norfolk, after February 15th.

The bride is a daughter of Dr. and Mrs. N. M. Ferebee, U. S. N., and her father has been stationed at the Naval Hospital for several years.

Dr. Kennon is a young and popular physician of Norfolk, and a graduate of the University of Virginia. He has many relatives and friends in Richmond, where his bride also is favorably known.

Hiddings—Ballinger.

At noon yesterday in the residence of Mr. and Mrs. Madison Adams Ballinger, on Twenty-eighth Street, Washington, D. C., their daughter, Miss Miriam Ballinger, became the wife of Lieutenant Francis Hiddings, of Norfolk.

Lieutenant Hiddings, this last foreigner to win a Washington bride, comes of an old family, being a grandson of Commodore Wissel, of the Royal Navy, and nephew of Colonel Wissel, of the Royal Artillery.

The bride is a daughter of Mr. and Mrs. H. H. Hiddings, of Norfolk, and is a niece of the late John H. Hiddings, first Earl of Rutland, and also of the Brabazon Hallows, of Glapwell Manor, Derbyshire, a gift of William the Conqueror, where thirty-five generations of her family have been born.

Admiral Hallows, of the Royal Navy; Major General Jardine Hallows, military governor of Jamaica; Colonel Francis Lewis, knight of the bath, aide-de-camp to the king, who was second in command to Lord Kitchener in the Sudan, are her cousins, and entertained her both in Cairo and in London during a recent stay abroad.

Mr. and Mrs. W. T. Wise, of Baltimore, gave a reception at their home Saturday evening in honor of Miss George Stockley, of Washington, Va.

Lancaster—Phillips.

Miss Nellie Virginia Phillips and Mr. John M. Lancaster, of Richmond, were married at the residence of the bride's parents, Mr. and Mrs. David H. Phillips, at Charleston, Va., on Tuesday evening.

In Honor of Miss Marlowe.

An afternoon reception will be given in honor of Miss Julia Marlowe, in Baltimore, on Tuesday afternoon, by Messrs. Paul Winchester, Edward W. Valentine and Frank D. Webb.

Speed—Mason.

The wedding of Miss May Mason, daughter of Mr. James M. Mason, of Charleston, Va., and granddaughter of the late United States Senator James M. Mason, of Virginia, to Mr. Paul Speed of New York, is announced to take place on Wednesday, February 15th, in Zion Episcopal Church, Charleston, W. Va.

Council Meeting.

There will be a meeting of the Jewish Woman's Council on Thursday afternoon at 4 o'clock in the vestry of the Beth Ababab Temple. All members are requested to be present as a delightful programme is promised.

Personal Mention.

Mr. and Mrs. N. E. Spear of Philadelphia, Pa., are on their bridal trip.

visiting their sister, Mrs. I. Falk, No. 515 North Third Street.

Mr. and Mrs. N. W. Mercereau, of Staunton, have landed in New York from their bridal trip to Jamaica and other points. Mrs. Mercereau is the sister of Mr. Harry B. Woodard, of this city.

Mr. William Lewis, of Orange county, has come to Richmond to make his future home in the employ of the Richmond, Fredericksburg and Potomac Railroad Company.

Mrs. Walker Thompson is visiting her parents, Mr. and Mrs. William Hogan, on the Boulevard, Fredericksburg, Va.

Miss Lucy Herndon, of Fredericksburg, and Miss Daisy Hampton, daughter of the late General Wade Hampton, of South Carolina, leave this week for New York, and from there will sail on the White Star Line steamer for Europe, to spend several months.

Mrs. George D. Phillips has returned from a pleasant visit to the home of Mr. John H. Watson, on Middle Street, Portsmouth.

Miss Fannie Thomas is the guest of Mrs. Richard Henderson, in Newport News.

Mr. W. W. Moss, of New York city, who lived in Richmond for many years, is in the city on a short stay.

Mr. J. Powell Eastwood, of Portsmouth, passed through the city to-day on his way to Denver, Col., for his health. Mr. Eastwood is well and favorably known here and is a graduate in Electrical Engineering of the University of Virginia.

Miss Louise French, of Newport News, is visiting friends in Richmond.

Miss Mary Virginia Ryland, daughter of the late Hon. John Ryland, is the guest of Judge and Mrs. Thomas E. Blakey, in Tapahannock.

Mr. and Mrs. John D. Potts, formerly of Richmond, now of Cincinnati, are the guests last Sunday of Mr. and Mrs. R. L. Potts, of Lynchburg.

Miss G. H. H. is visiting at the home of her uncle, Mr. E. F. H. at Summit, Fredericksburg.

Mrs. E. F. Fairbanks is the guest of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Cash, on Sophia Street, Fredericksburg.

Miss Lina Shields, who has been visiting in Norfolk, has been the recipient of much attention. She was entertained at a luncheon Friday by Miss Lily Woodward, of Ghent.

BARTON HEIGHTS.

Pupils who achieved the roll of honor at the recent session and examination standings for last session ending January 24th, are as follows:

Fourth Grade—Second Honor—Misses Goldie Dickson and Bessie Duncan.
Intermediate B Grade—First Honor—Adie Lewis, knight of the bath, aide-de-camp to the king, who was second in command to Lord Kitchener in the Sudan, are her cousins, and entertained her both in Cairo and in London during a recent stay abroad.

Second Honor—Nannie Starr, Edwin Casley, Maude Ellis and Lewis Tiller.
Sixth Grammar Grade—First Honor—Maude Currie, Bessie Harris, Mollie Duval and Bessie Woodward.

Honor—Howard Glyn, Evelyn Carpenter, Sherry Randolph, Josephine Figner, Robert Duncan, Roy Wright and Norma Ward.
Fifth Grammar Grade—First Honor—Emma

Misses Goldie Dickson and Bessie Duncan.

M A R V E L O U S

Exceeds
Our Expectations

The World's Greatest Sale

Crowded to the Doors

Dry Goods, Millinery, Furnishings,
BOOTS AND SHOES.

From the time the store was opened until closing time—9 P. M.—there was a frenzied rush by men, women and children that has never before been seen or known in the history of the mercantile business. No one ever saw such values as Sale at Any Price You Choose are only part of the inducements of style and quantity to select.

Do Not Wait
Until To-morrow,
COME NOW!
Sale Positively
Closes In Ten Days.

in Old Virginia. This sale is des- ever inaugurated in Richmond, you will find at this Gigantic to Pay. The mere low prices ments—the quality, correctness from are equally as great attrac-

YOU HAD BETTER COME QUICK.

The First
Day's Selling
Was Tremendous

W. A. CHEATWOOD,
1509-1511-1513 East Main St.
RICHMOND, VA.

Look For the Big Green
Sign

N. B.—This is Your First and Last Opportunity to Purchase High-Grade Merchandise at much less than you can buy inferior Goods at Other Stores.

Hopkins, Bessie Payne and Bradstreet Peaseley.
Second Honor—Mattie Raines and Lizzie Russell.
Fourth Grammar Grade—First Honor—Maud Kuyk and Henry Taylor.

Second Honor—Helen Rose, Mary Lyle Williams, Marian Hagan, Ralph Eason, Corall Hopper, Ruth Carpenter, Newton Gordon, Ada Scott and Grace Armstrong.
Third Grammar Grade—Second Honor—Nannie Drummer, Harry Currie, Annie Griffin and John Payer.

Second Grammar Grade—First Honor—Ethel Baughman, Sophie Currie and Gladys Higdon.
Second Honor—Leon Johnson, Violet Chamberlain, Nellie Sydney, Grayson Leubetter, Wallace Stockton, Allison Collins, Zella Fairbank, Roscoe Wilkinson, Willie Sale, George Stockton and Bertha Collier.

First Grammar Grade—First Honor—Norma Woodward, Hugh Leach, William Taylor, Rudy and Frank Taylor.
Second Honor—Helen Hadden, Margaret Brown, Lillian Harding, Kathleen O'Bannon and Herbert Beck.

Second Grammar Grade—First Honor—Mabel Galloway, Kathleen Gregory, Evelyn Harris and Grace Hodge.
Second Honor—Hattie Flynn, Ruth Farley, Ella Wilkinson and Terrell Gordon.

Seventh Primary Grade—First Honor—Elizabeth Armstrong, Lillian Noble, Mary Carpenter, Joseph Peasley, Willie Woody and Elsie Kase.
Second Honor—Louise Moore, Clara Wilmann, John Woody, George Elmer, Edward Richardson and Aubrey Hooper.

Sixth Primary Grade—First Honor—Thomas Southernland, Austin Martinson and Brownie Brown.
Second Honor—Thelma Currie and Bernard Luck.

Fifth Primary Grade—First Honor—Lewie Johnson, Elizabeth Christian, Alma Horner, Edith Baughman and Estelle Jones.
Second Honor—Wallace White, Dora Givin, and Ora Peaseley.

Fourth Primary Grade—First Honor—Olga Stockton and Harriett Rader.
Second Honor—Mary Jo, Page Branch, Carlton Moffat, Albert Branch, Ernest Horner and Willie Kase.

Third Primary Grade—First Honor—Elsie Whitely, Helen Denel, Douglas Wilkinson, Ashby Peaseley, Edwin Riden, Lucy Taylor, Ruth Taylor and Thomas Armstrong, Archie Leach and Hurdley Winter.
Second Primary Grade—First Honor—Louise Jackson.
Second Honor—Greta Benson.

Second Primary Grade—First Honor—Mary Gregory, Elizabeth Turner, Goodwyn Kuyk, Douglas Hodge, Allen Crutcheff, Bessie Rader, Edward Harding, Willie Martin and Wade Martin.
Second Honor—Hollie Tiller, Bertie Powell, Pearl Tiller and Mary Lightner.

First Primary Grade—First Honor—Helen Hadden, who is visiting his parents, of Lamb Avenue.
Miss Mattie Hodge, who has been visiting in Norfolk, has been the recipient of much attention. She was entertained at a luncheon Friday by Miss Lily Woodward, of Ghent.

Mrs. W. T. Gary, who has been visiting her parents, of Lamb Avenue.
Miss Mattie Hodge, who has been visiting in Norfolk, has been the recipient of much attention. She was entertained at a luncheon Friday by Miss Lily Woodward, of Ghent.

Mrs. James Perkins has left for her home in Annapolis after a visit to Mr. and Mrs. John J. Clark.
Miss Marie Nott gave a delightful birthday party at her home in Brookland Park Thursday evening. Amusements, games, singing and etc., after which refreshments were served. Among those present were: Misses Mary, Maude Jones, of Georgia, who has been visiting Miss Mary Wilkinson, has left for her home in Norfolk, Va.

Mr. James Clark, of Washington, is the guest of Mr. George Hunter.

A "Gypsy" tea will be given by the Girls' Chapter of Annapolis Chapel, Friday, February 3d, in the home of Miss Rose Shaffer, on Park Street, Annapolis. Adults from 4 to 10 P. M.; children from 4 to 6 P. M. Public cordially invited to attend.

The Young People's Social Club was on last Friday evening delightfully entertained by Miss Aurelia Timberlake at her home in Brookland Park. Refreshments were served. Among those present were: Misses Mary, Maude Jones, of Georgia, who has been visiting Miss Mary Wilkinson, has left for her home in Norfolk, Va.

Miss Anna Quatway, the guest of Miss Kate in a few days for the house for several days by sickness.
The roll of honor for Highbank Park High School ending for the week January 27th, is as follows:
Senior B—Anne Sale, Rebecca Clarke, Jack Taylor, Anne Lewis.
Junior B—Bertha Marshall, Chester Wood, Edith Harvey, Ruthie, Thomas Timberlake, Emily Crow, Maude Piller, Mary Harris, Bessie Carter, Edith Varnborough.
The next meeting of the Young People's Social Club will be held Friday evening, February 10th, in the home of Miss Anne Sale, on Third Avenue.

Rev. E. E. Odell, pastor of Highland Park Methodist Church, has been visiting relatives in Norfolk, Va.

Katherine Watkins, of Fourth Avenue, Chester Hill.

Mr. and Mrs. Tyler English have moved to their new home on Fourth Avenue.

FULTON NOTES.

Henrico Council, No. 723, Royal Arcanum will hold an interesting meeting to-night at Nelson's Hall. Besides the usual routine of business, several new members will be initiated into the order. Henrico Council is still holding its standard of progressiveness; there is seldom a meeting in which new members are not added to the roll.

William Featherstone, who was quite painfully injured in one of his eyes by a piece of machinery several years ago, has developed quite a serious condition, resulting from the injured organ. He is now at the Sheltering Arms Hospital for treatment.

Mrs. J. C. Portieff, who has been quite ill at her home on Marion Hill, is able to be about.

Dr. George Williams is confined to his bed on account of illness.
Fulton Council, No. 24, Daughters of Liberty will meet to-night at Kerser's Hall on Orleans Street.

Fulton Council, No. 2, Daughters of Liberty, will meet to-morrow night at the Junior Order United American Mechanics Hall, on Louisiana Street.

Matignon Council, No. 119, I. O. O. F., will meet to-morrow night at Nelson's Hall on account of illness.

Dr. George Williams is confined to his bed on account of illness.
Fulton Council, No. 24, Daughters of Liberty will meet to-night at Kerser's Hall on Orleans Street.

Fulton Council, No. 2, Daughters of Liberty, will meet to-morrow night at the Junior Order United American Mechanics Hall, on Louisiana Street.

Matignon Council, No. 119, I. O. O. F., will meet to-morrow night at Nelson's Hall on account of illness.

Dr. George Williams is confined to his bed on account of illness.
Fulton Council, No. 24, Daughters of Liberty will meet to-night at Kerser's Hall on Orleans Street.

Fulton Council, No. 2, Daughters of Liberty, will meet to-morrow night at the Junior Order United American Mechanics Hall, on Louisiana Street.

Matignon Council, No. 119, I. O. O. F., will meet to-morrow night at Nelson's Hall on account of illness.

Dr. George Williams is confined to his bed on account of illness.
Fulton Council, No. 24, Daughters of Liberty will meet to-night at Kerser's Hall on Orleans Street.

Fulton Council, No. 2, Daughters of Liberty, will meet to-morrow night at the Junior Order United American Mechanics Hall, on Louisiana Street.

Matignon Council, No. 119, I. O. O. F., will meet to-morrow night at Nelson's Hall on account of illness.

Dr. George Williams is confined to his bed on account of illness.
Fulton Council, No. 24, Daughters of Liberty will meet to-night at Kerser's Hall on Orleans Street.

Fulton Council, No. 2, Daughters of Liberty, will meet to-morrow night at the Junior Order United American Mechanics Hall, on Louisiana Street.

Matignon Council, No. 119, I. O. O. F., will meet to-morrow night at Nelson's Hall on account of illness.

THE DARROW ENIGMA.

By MELVIN L. SEVERY.

(Copyright, by Dodd, Meade & Co.)

(Chapter IV—Continued.)

"There can be little doubt," he continued, "from the position occupied by the depression, of which this is a reverse copy, that it was either accidentally made by someone who, stooping before the east window to avoid obstructing its light, suddenly lost his balance and regained his equilibrium by thus thrusting out his hand, or—and this seems far more likely to me—that the hand was deliberately placed in the gravel in order to steady its possessor while he performed some peculiar operation."

At this point I ventured to ask why he regarded the latter view as so much more tenable than the former. There are several reasons," he replied, "which render the view I prefer to take all but certain. First, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the fingers. Third, the impression was made by the left hand. Second, it is the impression of a closed hand with the upper joints of the fingers underneath. Did you ever endeavor to save himself from falling by thrusting out a closed hand? Certainly not. There is a certain amount of fear, however slight, invariably associated with losing one's balance. This sentiment, so far as the hand is concerned, is expressed by opening it and spreading the